Holistic Leadership · Appreciative Inquiry

Leading Through Change

How can holistic leadership be realistically applied to help organizations lead effectively in times of constant change?

Alejandra Matallana · Devin Davis · Dominik Wohr · Pedro Cunha · Teresa Torres
IE Business School × Porto Business School — March 2026

DISCOVER

What works when leadership is at its best?

Across five organizations and three countries, we found the same five truths.

01
Trust comes first

Earned by extending it. No micromanagement — genuine belief in people.

02
Flexibility unlocks potential

Autonomy during disruption made teams stronger than strict instructions.

03
Open communication

Transparency, shared optimism, and accepting imperfection build the strongest teams.

04
Proactive support

Support built in before it's needed — not deployed in crisis mode.

05
Strengths over problems

The best leaders focused on what people do well and built around that — amplifying strengths, not fixing weaknesses.

DREAM

“My hero is my father.

When I grow up, I want to be like him.

Working here!”

A child of an employee, during a company event

The dream is simple

Organizations where people thrive — not just survive.

Where leadership sustains performance without burning people out.

Where leaders amplify strengths, creating conditions for success. Where change is met with resilience, not fear.

DESIGN

Six practices for leading through change

Grounded in five days of research, science, and group reflection.

Self-awareness

Know your strengths, biases, and energy patterns. Leading from your best self makes others follow with theirs.

Trust-building narrative

Share the real story — values, purpose, vulnerability. People follow leaders they believe.

Healthy rhythms

Protect energy through cadence: meeting rhythms, recovery time, decision-free zones.

Psychological safety

Create space for mistakes, questions, and honest feedback. Safety to be real. real.

Growth through strengths

Give people responsibility, not just tasks. Growth happens when people own outcomes built on what they do best.

Mindful resilience

Build reflection into daily leadership. Pause before reacting. Seek the blind spots.

From our group work: Healthy organizational rules · Wellbeing of employees · Great environment for human energy

DESTINY

From insight to action

What can realistically be implemented — starting now.

FIRST 30 DAYS

Listen & Diagnose

Run a simple well-being pulse. Start from strengths — identify where trust, energy, and safety are already strong — and where they need attention.

FIRST 90 DAYS

Introduce Practices

Start small: weekly reflection rituals, peer recognition, protected recovery time. Build habits before systems.

FIRST YEAR

Embed & Evolve

Integrate into culture. Measure through engagement and energy — not just performance. Adjust based on real feedback.

The commitment is not perfection — it is starting.

Thank you

Leading through change is not about fixing what is broken.

It is about amplifying what makes people strong — and building from there, together.

Holistic Leadership: From Purpose to Impact
IE Business School × Porto Business School
March 2026